

Doctoral Dissertation Format in the Department of Occupational Therapy

Attach the cover page (Separate Form 1) at the beginning, followed by a list of papers (refer to the institutional repository for the format). Next, use offprints of the published papers or create them in the format of the journal in which they were published.

However, if the format of the published journal papers is not suitable for the submitted dissertation due to excessive page numbers, etc., create them in the following format.

1. Format: Use A4 size paper, with 40 lines per page and 40 characters (80 English characters) per line, totaling 1,600 characters (3,200 English characters) per page. For English text, use double spacing. Include page numbers at the bottom of the manuscript.
2. Cover Page: Use Separate Form 1.
3. After the cover page, include a list of papers (refer to the institutional repository for the format), the cover page of the published journal papers, a Japanese abstract and keywords, the main text, references, and an English abstract. Figures and tables should be numbered consecutively (e.g., Figure 1, Table 1) and compiled separately from the main text.

When preparing the submission documents, first thoroughly read the "Important Notes on Submitting Degree Theses on LoGo Form" provided by the Academic Affairs Section.
