“Tokyo Human Resources Fund for City Diplomacy”
International Student Special Selection

Application Guidelines

<“Tokyo Human Resources Fund for City Diplomacy” International Student Special Selection>

The Tokyo Metropolitan Government established the “Tokyo Human Resources Fund for City Diplomacy” in 2015 to seamlessly implement programs for fostering human resources that are essential to promote intercity cooperation, for approximately next ten years.

Accordingly, under the “Tokyo Human Resources Fund for City Diplomacy” Scholarship Program, the Graduate School of Human Health Sciences at Tokyo Metropolitan University (TMU) run by the public university corporation founded by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government, is accepting excellent international students to study at TMU for the academic year 2020. This program provides financial support including tuition exemption, stipend and others, for students who pass our special selective examination in order to concentrate on their study and research. The Graduate School of Human Health Sciences at Tokyo Metropolitan University is comprised of six departments in Nursing Sciences, Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Radiological Sciences, Frontier Health Sciences, and Health Promotion Sciences. The departments that implement the examination will be announced later.

Please note that this program may not be implemented unless Tokyo Metropolitan Government budget for fiscal year of 2020 is enacted by March 31, 2020.
